

Memnon is a European leader in digitization of audiovisual archives, content enrichment and content monetisation.

Memnon provides a professional, high-quality and cost-effective service, that combines innovative techniques, in-depth experience of audiovisual processing and databases, professional research in archiving standards, and optimized production process.

In order to cope with mass digitization Memnon has developed a dedicated software (call PAM Production Asset Management) which provide a special efficient workflow for these type of work.

Memnon has unrivalled expertise and knowledge in sound and video archives, and can advise at every stage of the sound / video digitization process.

Memnon is currently involved in the digitization of more than 900.000 hours of sound and video archives.

Memnon offers also inhouse services, with a complete solution which consists in building a replica of our Belgian digitization factory and workflow at the customer's facility.

This includes developing and building the setup to suit your needs, defining the target productivity, integrate it into your workflow, help in selecting the right profile of operators, training the staff, benefit from Memnon's know-how and large experience in mass migration projects, etc.
